The First in the Family group is a safe and nurturing environment for GWU’s first-generation college students to discuss the challenges of being the first in the family to attend college with others who “get it.”

Get a pre-screening by talking with a CAPS clinician during a virtual consultation by calling (202) 994-5300 daily between 12-4pm. Students can also scan QR code to complete a group interest form and a clinician will reach out.

You can also request more information by contacting the group facilitator:
RaShonda Riley, LICSW | rashondariley@email.gwu.edu